

1. Can you describe your background in a few words?

My name is Sofia, and I'm 23 years old. I began my legal studies with a bachelor's degree in European law. Building on this, I pursued a master's degree in banking and finance law. As part of my master's program, I had the opportunity to spend a year studying in Montreal. After completing my master's degree, I undertook a six-month internship with Ashurst.

2. How was your integration into the Global Loans department at Ashurst?

My integration into the Global Loans department at Ashurst went very well. The team is relatively small, which creates a welcoming and inclusive environment where you immediately feel like a part of the group. From the very beginning, I was involved in the department's cases and projects.

One of the standout aspects of my experience has been the kindness and attentiveness of my colleagues. Everyone is incredibly supportive, always ready to offer guidance and help whenever needed. Working with such a collaborative and friendly team has been both motivating and enriching.

3. What tasks did you work on during your internship? What skills have you developed?

During my internship at Ashurst, I had the opportunity to work on a variety of tasks within the Global Loans department. These included drafting and reviewing financing agreements, conducting legal research, and assisting with the preparation of transaction documents. I was also involved in liaising with clients and counterparties, which gave me valuable exposure to the practical side of deal-making.

Through this experience, I developed several key skills. My attention to detail improved significantly as I worked on ensuring the consistency of legal documents. I also enhanced my ability to analyze complex legal concepts and apply them in real-world contexts.

Additionally, my communication and organizational skills were sharpened through regular collaboration with team members and by managing multiple tasks under deadlines. This internship provided me with a strong foundation in banking and finance law, while also teaching me how to thrive in a fast-paced, high-pressure environment.

4. What tools or resources did you use and how did they help you?

During my time at Ashurst, I had the opportunity to use Harvey, an AI-powered tool that streamlined my workflow. Harvey proved to be an invaluable resource for conducting legal research, analyzing complex documents, and generating concise summaries.

5. According to you, what makes Ashurst a great place to work?

a prestigious law firm in Luxembourg. During this time, I had the chance to immerse myself in the fast-paced environment of a global firm, working closely on banking and finance matters. At the end of my internship, I was offered a fixed-term contract, which has been an exciting step forward in my career.

6. What are your plans for the coming months?

In the coming months, I plan to return to Montreal to take the bar exam and begin building my career there. However, I'm keeping an open mind about the future and could see myself returning to Luxembourg later to further develop my professional path.
